

When did you know you wanted to pursue a career in research and specifically toxicology?

At what point did you want to focus on cancer research?

How did you handle the busy schedule of being a PhD student?